

While searching for his barn home, Oliver became so tired that he fell asleep on the windowsill of a country house.

